A One Day Workshop on 'Intellectual Property Rights: Introduction and Scope'

31st August, 2019

Report of the Programme

Internal Quality Assurance Cell and Department of Commerce jointly organized A One Day Workshop on 'Intellectual Property Rights: Introduction and Scope' on 31st August, 2019. The programme was chaired by Hon. Prin. Dr. Manjushri Bobade. Ms. Ankita Nagarkar was the resource person for the workshop.

The programme was introduced by I.Q.A.C. Coordinator, Prof. T. B. Aphale. He explained the need of scientific innovations in the 21st century. The scientific developments will lead the world to the progress of the mankind.

Ms. Ankita Nagarkar who is a recipient of several patents explained the need and process of patent filing, new avenues for the patents and innovative ideas. She demonstrated some experiments of her innovations to participants. She encouraged the participants by showing some video clips of the successful experiments carried out by her.

Prin. Dr. Manjushri Bobade in her presidential address emphasized on the need of innovations in every field. She said that the smallest input in the creativity can be an innovation. The innovation begins with small experiments you carry out with interest. Filing a patent is not a big deal nowadays and any innovator can do it but your innovation must be unique and universally recognized to claim the patent.

The workshop was attended by 86 students and teachers. The students interacted with the speaker and made a fruitful dialogue with her.

Overall the organization of the workshop was fruitful and stimulated the young minds with new energy to learn and innovate.
